Weekly Update

I hope you all had a wonderful Easter and holiday break with family and friends. Hopefully this was an opportunity to rest and recharge ready for our adventures this term.

I look forward to hearing about everyone's holidays tomorrow morning. As part of our sharing about holidays, I will be asking students to consider a highlight of their holidays and something new they learnt. Feel free to give your child the heads up about this today so they are ready to share tomorrow.

We already have plenty of events on top of our normal curriculum to keep us extra busy this term. Stay tuned for information and reminders about this over the coming weeks.

Student Goals

At Parent Teacher Interviews I discussed the achievement of your child's Literacy and Numeracy goal. This week we will be setting new Literacy and Numeracy goals for this term. Once these have been set, your child's blue goals folder will be sent home. Please read through this with your child, keep a copy at home, sign the other copy and return to school in the blue folder.

Students are expected as part of their weekly homework to work on their goals at home.

Please contact me if you would like suggestions on ways you can support your child at home to achieve their goals.

Congratulations Lucy

Lucy received our classroom award at our final assembly last term. She received this award for being a thinker and solving problems independently. She shows excellent effort in the presentation of her work and demonstrates creativity in her use of vocabulary during Literacy tasks. Well done Lucy!
